Memphis Players Steals Home Twice

By The Associated Press Don Sicholas -- a gutty little guy who plays centerfield for Momphly - is the Eignost thing in the Southwern Association

He bats left, throws right, runs 27-31 like mad on both feet and he's usually thinking one base aboud of himself

Last night Nicholas sneaked come tylee in one game against Atlanta, and, to keep his feet in practice, stole second, Memphis warmed to its hottest pitch of the year just watching Nicholas gallop and took it on from there to whip Atlanta twice 14-3 and 10-2, Niccolas leads the Southern Association with 18 stolen bases. If he can hold that pace he'll take about 60 bases this year and become the Southern's top base runner since the war. The all-time record is 81, stolen by Jimmy Johnston of Birmingham in 135 games for Eirmingham in 1912.

Had Atlanta won the double-header, the Crackers would have tied Mobile. Mobile lost to Chattanooga

Bogh Chattanooga and New Orleans wen to move ahead of Atlanta in the standings. New Orleans took second with a 7-3 victory over Nashville and Chattanoora took third while whipping Mobile. Birmingham topped Little

Pan Fishing By AL McCLANE Flehing Editor

It was in May that I caught my first fish — a fot yellow perch fully 10 inches long. The stream in which the perch lived spilled from a small city reservoir and meandered through a boggy mea-dow. Before joining the quiet-lake a mile below, it slipped under a railroad treatle.

The real quarry was brook trout. Of course there wasn't anything but the ghost of trout in the warm, aredy water — but, grophrly whispered the name "trout" gave my river stature. The perch liked the shaded pool patched with squares of smilight that dropped between the ratirond ties. It was cool and myriads of wood-boring insects fell from the oak above.

The perch lay in big schools just under the surface. As some careless bug jumped in, a long the best. In lows, a survey made oyange-bellied fish detached him by the Conservation Commission upward, looked the insect over, then sharped him in.

Somehow or other, I still get the same bang out of pan-fishing as chicken entraits, fresh shring, I did then, and this a good time crawfish, angleworms and nightfor it . . . calicos, crapples, perch crawlers, clams and frogs, bluegills, and those luscious builty Half a hundred other baits are bluegills, and those luscious buil-tant secretary of labor from Wash-Federation of Labor's 46th annual; convention here today.

In an interview last night Wright said "the trade union movement? in America has had a tremendous part in keeping communism from Europe, adding:

If the working people of any nation are happy, they will never turn to Communism."

Wright praised Arkansas trade unions for their step 10 years ago in barring Reds from union membershlp.

Declaring that the present federal minimum wage of 75 cents was "much too low" Wright said the wage minimum ought to be at the old Magnolia Tree, which is least $1 to $1.25 per hour, and 'should be increased according to rising living costs."

He said it "would be well for Individual states to set their miniby Mrs. E. R. Ward and the deuce mum wages in conformation with federal wage laws.

Dark, depressive moods have recently engulfed Gray Austen, and Rena, his bridge of less than a year, is greatly worried. Is no broading over his lating leg, gained along with glory in the war? Is no yet grieving for his first wife, long do ad and gone? Rena ponders her problem as she walks her dog along a New York street. She is startled when young Mr. Ordway, their neighbor, steps out of the shadows to greet her. That night at home. Gray Austen flies into a fury when he discovers his wife holding a alim little paper-bound book in her hand. She had taken it from the shelf at random didn't even notice the title. It was just some story about an ancient crime, but it caused a final rift between them. Terrified, Rena teaves the house. Ord-way, their neighbor, who happens for way, their neighbor, who happens to he out in the street as she runs along it, sids her in reaching Henry Camadge, noted bibliophile detective. Listening to her story, Gamadge decides to hide her in his home.

Our tour started at the Old Court House which was built in 1874 after the Civil War. It is now used as the Washington School.

We then walked about five blocks to where we make our next stop at the oldest Magnolia Tree in the world. It is sixty five feet high, three feet from the base it is eleven dam. and one half feet around. It will take fourteen boys shoulder to shoulder to go around the Magnolia Trec.

Down the road from the Magnolia Tree we visited Miss Mary Catt's home. We did not go into Miss His name is Dr. J. C. Williams, he Catt's home because of her bad health. This house was built in 1820, the first two story structure built in Arkansas. There is a porch over the front top of the house, the banister was hand carved by many Negro slaves.

We then went to the Bowle Knife Marker, this is the story of the Bowie Knife, which was first made in 1831:

On the very spot where the marker is now, the old blacksmith shop where James Black made his marvelous knife, it was the hardest got off the bus we could see of metal ever made.
